

Northern Municipalities Settle On H.S. Areas

Newmarket—Delegates to a joint meeting of Georgina, East Gwillimbury, North Gwillimbury, Whitechurch, Sutton and Newmarket voted on Tuesday night in favor of the proposal for the establishment of two separate high school areas as opposed to a proposal for one large area. Alex Belugin, Newmarket, moved that representatives from the proposed Newmarket area, which would include Newmarket, East Gwillimbury, Whitechurch and school sections 1, 2 and 6, North Gwillimbury, go on record as being in favor of the establishment of their own high school area and Les Burrows moved that representatives from the proposed Sutton area go on record as approving an area for Sutton, Georgina and school sections 3, 4, 5 and 7, North Gwillimbury. Both motions were passed.

Reeve Arthur Evans, Newmarket, who acted as chairman for the meeting, said that the next step toward the formation of the areas as outlined was for the council of each municipality to write to the county council requesting that that municipality be included in an area.

Prior to the passing of the two motions, Reeve Evans opened the discussion on the areas by outlining the development of the proposals. He referred to the January report of the consultative committee on education in which it was said that the original proposal of the committee had been that North Gwillimbury be divided, with school sections 1, 2 and 6 going into the Newmarket area and sections 3, 4, 5 and 7 going into the Sutton area.

The report said a letter had been received from the Sutton continuation school board, along with a copy of a resolution from the Sutton council, in which it had been suggested that the proposed Sutton high school district be varied to include the whole of the township of North Gwillimbury.

Mr. Evans said that Mr. Randall of the Ontario Department of Education had made a new proposal at a meeting of the county council on June 4, that both of the areas previously considered combine to form one large area.

H. E. Gilroy Sells Business To Re-Open In Vancouver

Newmarket—H. E. Gilroy, Main St. men's wear merchant for the past 13 years, sold his store on Tuesday. Mr. Gilroy and his family expect to leave Newmarket about July 10 for Vancouver where he and his son, Bill, plan to open another clothing store.

Mr. Gilroy came to Newmarket from Aurora where he had been in the clothing business for 11 years. He was president of the Newmarket Lions club for a year, was secretary of the air cadets and has been chairman of the board of stewards of Trinity United church here for the past four years. He is a past president of the Aurora Golf club. He visited Vancouver about a year ago and decided he liked it, with the result that he has now decided to open a store there. Newmarket—The pupils of St. John's school and the members of the C.Y.O. staged a program in the town hall June 8 in honor of Rev. T. J. McCabe, who on June 10, celebrated the 25th anniversary of his ordination. The stage was beautifully decorated in silver and blue with jubilee emblems and religious scrolls significant of the occasion.

On behalf of the young people of the parish, Jim Insley welcomed Father McCabe and his guests. The chorus sang "Festal Day, followed by Ecce Sacerdos, selections by the rhythm band; recitation, "The Beautiful Hands of a Priest," by Barbara McHale; Jimmy Hugo, a piano solo; Kenneth Cassavoy recited "A Boy's Ambition." Eight dolls from Toyland appeared in a short, colorful operetta. The dolls as they appeared were Betty Daly, Mary Quinn, Coleen Cain, Patsy Cullen, Margaret O'Halloran, Mary McGuire, Maureen West and Mary Vale. A sacred drama, "The Mystical Gifts," was presented by seven members of the C.Y.O. The characters, as they appeared, were: Spirit of Music, Patricia Duncan; Spirit of Flowers, Florence Cain; Spirit of Gratitude, Barbara McHale; Spirit of Poetry, Joan McArthur; Angel of Prayer, Catharine Ewing; Angel Guardian, Jeanne Duncan; Angel of Vocation, Jean McArthur.

Four pupils, Jean MacDonald, Margaret Cullen, Kenneth Burke and Rodney West danced the "Tarantella." Donald Duncan gave a reading entitled, "My First Reading." Donna O'Halloran, as narrator for the Indian play, "The Lily of the Mohawks," took the audience back to scenes enacted nearly 300 years ago at a spot in New York State—now called Auriesville. Mrs. Hopkins is a graduate of the University of Toronto and was a member of the singing staff of the Columbia Broadcasting System from 1929 to 1931. She began Red Cross work in 1940 when she helped direct the work of the Red Cross Women's Unit at the New York hospital until going overseas in 1940.

SPECIALTY LOCAL SEEKS C.I.O. CHARTER

Newmarket—At a meeting of members of local 20 of the National Union of Furniture Workers and Allied Crafts, Canadian Congress of Labor, of the Office Specialty Mfg. Co. Ltd., on Tuesday night, a vote was taken authorizing application by the Newmarket local for a charter of affiliation with the International Woodworkers of America, Congress of Industrial Organizations.

The vote followed an earlier vote by local members in which it was decided to withdraw from the national union in favor of the C.I.O. affiliation.

The vote was taken following a discussion led by Lorne Paynter, president of local 20, who said that the Newmarket local was not ready for international affiliation and he objected to outside organizers setting contracts for Newmarket workers.

Answering a question as to the international union would be in better position to bargain for pay increases for Newmarket workers, Mr. Paynter said that if labor was that well organized, it might just as well turn its efforts towards reducing the cost of living as well as improving the working conditions of employees.

"The Maritime coal miners were out 90 days and got $1 a day increase plus an additional 40 cents increase in November if they reach production requirements of the company," he said. "As soon as they returned to the pits, the price of coal to the consumer jumped $2.75 a ton. Instead of going out and fighting for higher wages, it would be more sensible to establish a floor under which we have and turn our efforts to reducing the cost of living," he argued.

Harold Erstad, organizer for the International Woodworkers of America, and Ernest Evans, another organizer, said that only by affiliation with the international group would the Newmarket local survive. Mr. Erstad said that it had been the threat of affiliation with the international union that had forced the company to meet the Newmarket local's terms.

In reply to charges that affiliation would cost members in the Newmarket local, Mr. Erstad pointed out that what was lost in membership would be gained in the greater financial resources, educational facilities and prestige.

Council To Probe Way Improvements Charged

To Decide On Future Of Expropriated Site

Newmarket—The disposition of the block of property expropriated by the Newmarket town council for the proposed memorial auditorium will be settled, it is expected, at a council meeting Monday night. The property lies behind the post office and between Park and Botsford Sts.

Mayor Joseph Vale said that he had contacted the municipal board and that the result of the meeting would be laid before the council Monday night. "I can't say anything more until then," he said.

There is no expiration date to the expropriation, according to Mayor Vale.

Newmarket—Denne Bosworth was sworn in as engineer for the town of Newmarket at a special meeting of the council on Monday night, and a few minutes later Mr. Bosworth's report on local improvement costs drew such discussion from the council that the road and bridge committee was asked to make a special investigation into the matter and to prepare a report.

According to Mr. Bosworth, sewers installed under local improvements are being paid for by a system worked out by the engineers, whereby each person pays approximately the same amount per foot, regardless of the actual cost of the sewer. "This means that in some cases the property-owner is paying 96 percent of the cost of installation of sewers and the town only four percent, whereas in other cases the town pays 51 percent of the cost of installation and the property-owner only 49 percent," Mr. Bosworth said.

Reeve Arthur Evans and Councillor H. J. Luck supported the system as worked out by the engineers. "Property-owners should all pay the same amount for the same benefit," they argued. Mayor Vale did not agree. "They should pay on a definite percentage basis," he said. The road and bridge committee was instructed to consult Mr. Bosworth while making its investigation.

FRED C. LUNDY DIES AT 88 IN NAPA, CAL.

Newmarket—A visitor here in October of last year, Fred C. Lundy, 84, died in Napa, Cal., June 4, after an extended illness in hospital there. He was buried in the family plot in Tulocay cemetery.

Mr. Lundy left the family farm on Yonge St. in 1888 for California and his visit here in October was his first since that time. Shortly after leaving Newmarket he became ill and was operated on in Toronto General hospital. He reached his California home November 21 and had been in and out of hospitals until his death.

He is survived by four children: Olive M. Douglas, El Cerrito, Cal.; Florence L. Crood, Delta E. Schvefeler, Kenneth R. Lundy, all of Napa, seven grandchildren and one brother, Aaron L. Lundy, Montana.

Mr. Lundy was born on the farm his grandfather had cleared of bush on Second St., the son of Oliver Lundy and Mary Susanna Haines. He was one of 13 children. Canvass Citizens July 7-12 Before T.B. X-Ray Clinic Newmarket—Chairman and volunteer members of the committees chosen following the public meeting in the town hall on June 3, met at the town clerk's office on Thursday evening to plan the T.B. survey which will preface the x-ray clinic to be held in the Sunday-school rooms of Trinity United church, Newmarket, from July 18 to July 24. The clinic, sponsored by the Newmarket board of health and operated by the Gage Institute under the National Sanitarium Association, will provide free chest x-rays to all Newmarket residents and to anyone from the surrounding districts who cares to come.

Mrs. C. E. Wheeland, chairman of the canvassing committee, said that the town of Newmarket would be divided into five districts for the survey, with the Lions Club, the Catholic Women's League, the Canadian Legion, the Home and School Association, and the Women's Institute each responsible for surveying one district. "St. Andrew's ward will be surveyed by the Lions, under the captaincy of Leo Cull," Mrs. Wheeland said. "St. Patrick's ward will be surveyed by the Catholic Women's League under Mrs. William McCaffrey."

"St. George's ward will be divided into three sections," she continued. From Queen and Main Sts. and Strigley and Prospect Sts. north to the town limits and out Davis Dr. will be handled by the members of the Legion under Cecil Jarvis. From Queen and Main Sts. and Strigley and Prospect Sts. down to Water St. and out Gorman will be done by the Home and School Association members under Mrs. C. Barber, and the area including Hamilton, Court, Pearson, and Prospect from Gorman out Second St. and including to the railroad tracks will be done by the W.I. under Mrs. Roy McDonald."

Mrs. Wheeland said that the canvassers would work from July 7 to July 12. According to A. S. Patterson, field secretary of the National Sanitarium Association, the canvassers' duty is to make house-to-house calls answering any questions that may be asked, and ascertaining as nearly as possible the preferred time for each resident to be x-rayed. There will be about 10 canvassers working under each district captain.

FREE CHEST X-RAYS FOR NEWMARKET

Tuberculosis kills more Canadians between the ages of 18 and 45 than all other infectious diseases combined. During the most recent conflict, tuberculosis killed almost as many Canadians as there were war casualties. About 50,000 Canadians are, at this moment, actively ill with tuberculosis.

Pulmonary tuberculosis is an infectious, contagious and communicable disease. In its early stages, there are no readily visible symptoms. If caught early enough, tuberculosis can be cured. Tuberculosis can be discovered in the early stages by means of x-rays of the lungs.

These are the reasons why in six weeks, the residents of Newmarket, from school age up, will be offered the opportunity of a free chest x-ray. These are the reasons why everyone must take advantage of this offer. Those who do not have the x-rays taken are not only risking their own health but also the health of others, the members of their families, the friends they associate with.

The free chest x-ray is being sponsored by the Newmarket board of health under the supervision of the Gage Institute Chest Clinic, operated by the National Sanitarium Association. The survey has been financed by the sale of Christmas seals. No obligation is attached to those taking advantage of the survey except to observe the rules of procedure. Such as being on time for appointments. In return, the x-ray clinic provides a needed protection for you and your family.

In the past, other dread diseases have been virtually eliminated by proper prevention. Tuberculosis can be eliminated too. But it is necessary that everyone fully co-operate. A survey of half of the citizens will accomplish little. A tubercular among those who did not take advantage of the survey could infect those who had their x-rays and thought themselves safe.

WHAT WILL THEY DO NEXT?

A few weeks ago, five-year-old Marion Delgado was busy in his backyard on an engineering project such as five-year-old's undertake with a single-mindedness they never after display. Nearby was the right-of-way of the Western Union railway. Marion needed some pieces of concrete to complete his project and he tried to break a 25-pound slab for that purpose.

Having no luck in his backyard, he took the slab to the railway and tried to break it across the rails. When that failed, he placed it on the rail and waited for the express to come through and do the job for him. The engine hit the concrete at 50 m.p.h., jumped the tracks, tore up 300 feet of track and toppled over. The engineer and four others were injured.

A picture of Marion and his slab of concrete against the background of the wrecked express was given national prominence, for the combination made a picture editor's dream. But for many parents, that picture is going to provide plenty of nightmares. No one yet has devised a way to anticipate a child's ingenuity and no matter how many loopholes his parents may plug with warnings and admonitions, Junior in his own, uncomplicated manner, is going to risk his life and the lives of others with some venture his parents never dreamed of in their wildest imaginings.

There was a five-year-old who was warned by his parents to stay away from electric wall outlets. Never must he put his fingers near them, he was told time and time again. The boy didn't get too near the outlet nor did he put his fingers in it. He stood back and plunged the tips of a long-nosed pair of scissors into the outlet instead. His mother fainted but she was the only casualty. And so it goes.

How a child reaches an age of some responsibility without blowing up his home because he wanted to see what would happen if he mixed this powder with that, or breaking his neck with a homemade airplane, or anyone of an endless list of possibilities for individual or mass homicide, is a mystery on par with that of the pyramids. Will their luck hold now that there are atoms to play with?

Ned Clark is dead. The reformed soak whose stooped figure and shuffling walk were as much a part of downtown Toronto as the spire of St. James Cathedral, died in a church hostel last week leaving unanswered the mystery of his origin and early history.

For Ned Clark was no ordinary bum. He was as dirty as the others. He sniped cigarette butts in the gutters and poked through the city garbage cans like the others, but there was none of his fellows who spoke Latin with the melodious fluency of Ned Clark. And none had the scholar's forehead and the long, bony nose of a thinker that Ned Clark had. Nor did they have the hands

Ned Clark with their long, tapering fingers and broad palms, the hands of an artist.

Who Ned Clark was no one knew for sure. It was said he was a professor whose mind had broken from overwork; and again that he was a millionaire's son who drank too much. Whoever he was, he left behind a rich heritage of legends that will live as long as the magistrates sit in the dusty courtrooms in the basement of Toronto's city hall.

They tell a story of how Ned, before he quit drinking a decade or so ago, welcomed a new magistrate to his duties on the bench. Said Ned to the magistrate (much junior to Ned as far as court appearances were concerned), "I congratulate your Worship on your appointment. It is not given to all men to receive their just deserts in this life. I'm still waiting for mine." And again, after a spirited defence on his own behalf, in which Ned had somehow interjected the Constitution and the King into his argument, he wound up with "I wish His Majesty had my constitution and I had his brains."

But we remembered Ned best on a blistering day when the Battle of Britain was at its height, when no one knew what the next day would bring and the headlines told with little hope of a people who didn't know how to surrender. We remember Ned, peering with his faded eyes through the broken spectacles he kept in place by a string looped about his eye, speaking not of war but of ideas that have outlasted fire and pestilence through the ages. And how he shuffled on his way, not feeling the heat of the sun, nor knowing his rags or his dirt; secure in that cool, remote world of the mind. And, we think, a truly free man.

THE "BALKAN COUP" NOT EXPECTED

The "Balkan Coup" — the swift arrest of anti-communist leaders in Hungary by Russian occupation authorities and the elevation of pro-communists to positions of importance — should cause little surprise. It is the logical corollary to the Truman Doctrine; the Kremlin counter-move on the European chess-board.

What is surprising is the tone of reproach used by some commentators. These gentry seem more concerned with the ethics, or lack of them, of the Kremlin in breaking the Yalta Agreement respecting Hungary than in a realistic appraisal of the event. Surely by now the democratic world recognizes that observance of treaties and agreements is a matter of convenience to the Kremlin. By assuring a sympathetic government in Hungary, and Bulgaria, too, by removing the opposition on trumped up charges and replacing them with friends, Russia is answering Uncle Sam's "Dollar Diplomacy" in Turkey and Greece with its own brand of diplomacy. Thus the battle lines are drawn, and the nations on the field — the United States with unlimited funds (if Congress is prepared to spend them and apparently it is) and Russia with the weapons of geography and a fanatic faith in the ideology of communism and completely unhindered by scruples in spreading it.

There are those who will argue that it was the Truman Doctrine of financial aid to combat communist pressure on Greece and Turkey that has brought about the Balkan coup, that if the United States had not interfered, it would not have happened. On the record, such an argument is foolish. The pattern of Russian expansion is all too obvious. The Truman Doctrine precipitated the coup but it would have come about sooner or later. Because of the urgency of offsetting American moves in Greece and Turkey, the Russians were less subtle — that's the only difference. Wars are made in the far away places, the Sarejvos and the Polish borders of the world. The corner stones of a lasting peace are being laid in the obscure hamlets and crossroads of Greece and Turkey where American dollars are demonstrating American recognition that only a non-totalitarian Europe will ensure peace for the United States; and more important, a willingness to invest in that sort of Europe.

What Others Think THE CLOSED GATE

(Fergus News-Record) Between Fergus and Elora, there is one of the strangest sights in all this countryside. And yet it is a very ordinary object. Hundreds of them are to be seen on every country road, except that this one is new — brand new, apparently.

It is an ordinary farm gate, galvanized iron pipe around the outside and fence wire in the middle. On each end of the gate is a post, a good substantial post, so that the gate hangs level and looks well. There are ordinary hinges on one end and a catch at the other. A man driving in the road can get out and open the gate and go through with his team of horses. In fact, that happens several times a day.

The road inside the gate is well travelled. It is lined on each side with branches pruned off trees, and dropped there from a wagon. Beyond that, it goes out of sight among the cedar trees down by the river.

What's funny about that? You may well ask that question. Such a scene is to be found wherever there are fences and roads and cedar trees. But this scene is different. The gate is there, new and shining — but there's no fence stretching on either side of it, and apparently there never has been any fence. The whole thing has an absurd look about it.

Cautious enquiries have failed to find the answer to this mystery. We've been told that the road leads to Elora's town dumping ground. Beyond that, we have not been able to learn why there is a fine gate but no fence.

NO EXCUSE

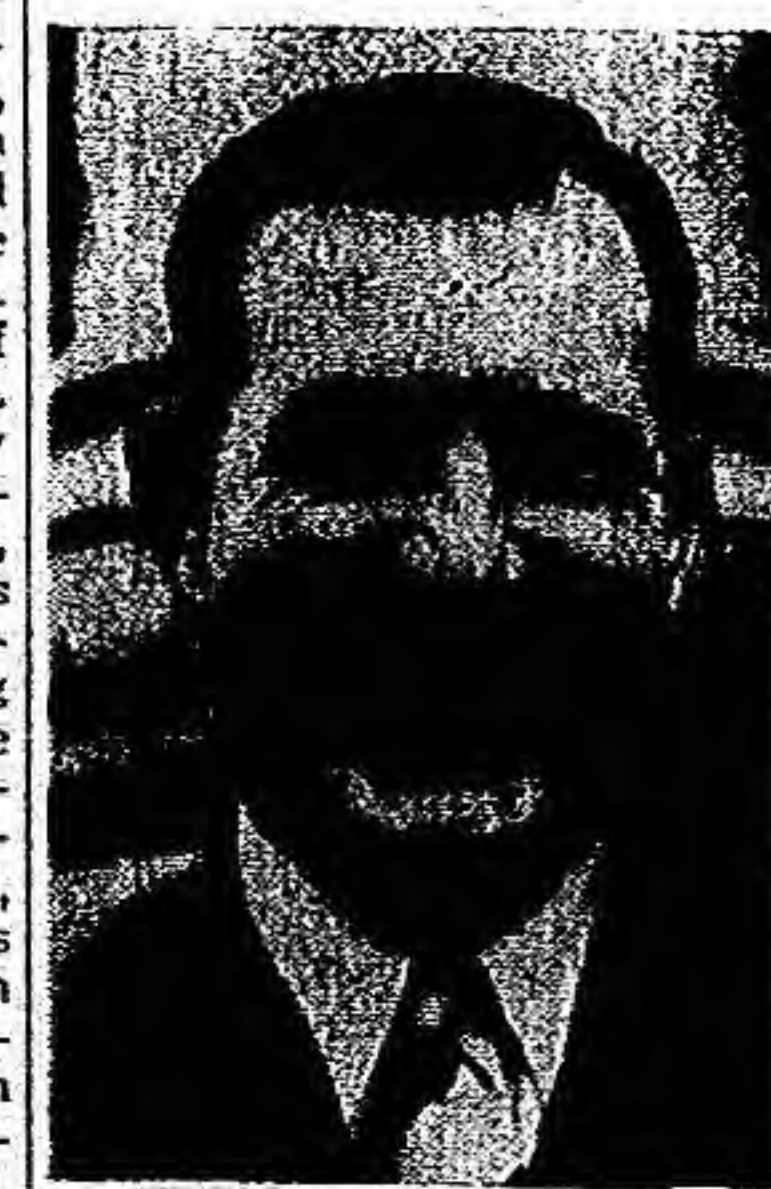

(Windsor Star) Drunkenness is no excuse for theft, assault, or any other crime. On the contrary, it should be looked on as a factor aggravating the guilt of the accused. The man who is inspired to lawlessness when he has been drinking should not drink, and courts should take the attitude that, when he does so, he is deliberately bolstering himself for wrong-doing.

- Around Town -

About the men and women you meet around town almost everyday.

"Name, Joseph McCulley; position, headmaster, Pickering College; born in Glasgow, Scotland, in April, 1900. Came to Canada when seven years of age. Had two years' teaching experience in public schools in Toronto. Graduated from University of Toronto in 1924 with Honor B.A. in philosophy. Awarded Massey Scholarship to Oxford University. Graduated Oxford 1926, M.A. in history. Since 1927 has been headmaster of this Canadian boys' secondary boarding school. Served under the late Arthur Purvis on the Youth Employment Committee of the National Employment Commission, 1936-37. Chairman, Young Men's Committee, Y.M.C.A., for ten years. A member of the Canadian Youth Commission. An honorary member of the American Headmasters' Association. Civilian advisor on organization of Khaki University, England, summer 1945."

That's how the biographical sketches sum up the career of Joe McCulley, the modern Mr. Chips, but actually they only tell a small part of the story. When Joe started teaching at Wilkenson school, Donlands Ave., Toronto, in 1919, he was the youngest staff member in a Toronto school. It was while he was a tutor-in-residence at Victoria College, University of Toronto, in 1926 that he made his first visit to Newmarket to explore the possibilities of the Pickering College buildings and grounds. Joe described the visit in a magazine put out by the school on the tenth anniversary of its reopening in 1927.

As it was then, "I will not soon forget my first visit to the school. The building had been used as a hospital for four years. It had been left in a not too happy condition. During the intervening six years there had been no heat in the building. Plaster had fallen from the walls, inches of dust had collected over everything and it seemed to me on that raw October day that the accumulated cold of six winters had been retained within the walls of the building. I was all alone making a preliminary survey of the possibilities of readapting the old building for modern educational purposes."

"I knew in my heart that I had the interest and enthusiastic support of a number of those who were anxious to see the school reopened, but if there was a rather lonely, somewhat disillusioned young man in Canada on that day, it was myself."

Perhaps the best way to tell of the growth of the school since that day when "the young headmaster" took over is to observe that in the school this year are students from Mexico, China, Bermuda, Haiti, Dutch Guiana, England, Los Angeles, Washington, D.C., Winnipeg, Regina, Lethbridge, and Sydney, N.S. There are 150 students in all, 30 in the "prep" school and 120 in the senior school. All are resident students. The spirit that prevails in the school is illustrated by the fact that this year, nine of the 20 staff members are "old boys."

"From being a potential headmaster of a school that was in process of resurrection but lacking staff and students, I find myself at the end of ten years looking back on a glorious period of growth and activity," Joe wrote in 1937.

What does the board of management of the school think of Joe? "In 1927, when the school re-opened, a young and untried man was selected as headmaster in an effort to have the school blaze for itself a new path in the field of educational endeavor. In our headmaster we have a man who is not only outstanding in the field of education in the dominion, but also one whose ability to obtain the co-operation of the boys is such that the school cannot help but prosper," Samuel Rogers wrote in the anniversary issue. "His ability to gather around him a staff, not only qualified academically, but also adapted to the peculiar needs of the school, has been one of the features which has contributed materially to the success of the school."

Joe's philosophy and his beliefs are the philosophy of Pickering. "Every statement of educational purpose expresses the judgment of some person or group as to what is good or bad, true or false, beautiful or ugly, valuable or worthless in the conduct of human affairs," Joe said in a recent address. "The fundamental objective of education is to develop free men for life in a free society, that is individuals free from ignorance, free from superstition, free from slavery, economic or political — individuals realizing their own potentialities and co-operating to achieve common purposes for an ever widening community."

"The greatest single challenge before educators today is to develop boys and girls, young men and women, who will face the facts of life realistically, who are provided with a vision of what the world may be, who have technical training to enable them to accomplish the super-tasks that confront them and have the courage to continue the struggle indefinitely until the goal is reached."

In short, Joe's aim as an educator and headmaster is to "develop citizens for life in a democratic society," and his aim is reflected in every phase of the school's life.

Something of what the students themselves feel for Joe is reflected in a piece of doggerel that once appeared in the Quaker Cracker, the school newspaper. It reads: "Joe McCulley is our head, Like him there is no other; His cheery smile exceeds them all, We love him like a brother."

VOCAL, VITAL AND VIVACIOUS

One bitterly cold winter morning I had a lovely experience. I had put bread crumbs, table scraps and a little grain under the pine tree near the kitchen window and now sat down to watch for my pensioners.

First there was a flash of vivid blue, a blue that rivalled the winter sky, and a rather unusual voice proclaimed "I'm here" and a bluejay alighted, his black bonnet strings contrasting strongly with his gray and blue.

He strutted proudly about, sampled the food, gave a call which brought 13 more lovely comrades and then they settled down to the serious business of breakfasting — not altogether amiably. I'm sorry to say, for they became exceedingly vocal over a particularly choice morsel and told each other off in no uncertain terms.

But although they were the largest and brightest guests, they were not the only ones. In and out among them, fearless, perky and bold, hopped the English sparrow. Maybe he's a nuisance but personally, I've never seen him molest other smaller birds with whom he seems to feed peacefully enough. At any rate, on a morning such as this was, it was good to see him hopping about, cheerful and undismayed by the cold.

Then, simultaneously, I saw a nuthatch coming down headfirst, poking here and there into the crevices of the trees and taking dainty nips of the food in the tree, while near him, concentrating on a bit of fat, a woodpecker devoted his time and energy to demolishing it.

Now A Grosbeak The bluejays shouted, the sparrows chattered and then, among them came a bird about the size of a robin, only sturdier, with dark wings and a yellowish green breast, a grosbeak. He walked among them, unafraid, quiet, not eating, but a striking figure with his strong, yellow beak and fine coloring. He came directly under the window, cocked his head and looked at me and walked on, intent on business of his own — no doubt looking for maple keys. See What We Have Now

That was in the winter, but this year I tried an experiment. I kept up the feeding, straight through the spring and am still at it, and with what results? Why, we see new birds every day. Someone told us that Baltimore orioles never ate on the ground — all I can say is "Come and see". Some mornings the ground is just carpeted with gay singers and chirpers and chatters. Well, one morning there was a brilliant dash across my line of vision and among the drabber flock floated a ball of orange and black. Dainty and proud, he walked among them, friendly and gay and putting his little claw on a piece of crust, he raised his little black head as if in thanksgiving and then devoted his energies to satisfying a remarkably good appetite. Since then he and his mate have been regular feeders. Then there are a pair of cal birds who dine with us: a pair of wrens have taken up their abode and their noisy houses, keeping in their houses swinging from a limb of the tree, inaccessible to prowlers. They sing and talk and scold all day long.

A pair of flickers have a nest in the hollow branch of an apple tree and even they, earlier on, shared the table of the birds. The goldfinches are shyer but they are around and we have a beautiful little warbler, and there's a pair of birds in the orchard whose chief duty in life is to chase crows and starlings, and how they chase them! Our robin family has a fixed schedule as far as our lawn is concerned. Regularly between 12 and 1 o'clock they appear, study the terrain as if on a surveying expedition and then proceed to gather in large and no doubt protesting worms for the delectation of their young.

We see some birds which we do not recognize and which we cannot find in our bird books, but we are learning and one thing we have learned, to keep feeding them. I've been reporting so many serious things lately, I thought I'd take a day off and report on the birds.

OTTAWA LETTER by "Jack" Smith, M.P. North York

The big event of the week here in Ottawa was the visit of the president of the United States. Mr. Truman has been accorded an enthusiastic welcome and has made a good impression here.

We heard the president in the commons Wednesday morning and met him at a noon-day luncheon. There may have been more colorful and more spectacular presidents but Mr. Truman impressed me as a man of character and ability who is making a sincere effort in one of the biggest jobs in the world. As the president is still here at the time of writing, I may have more to say next week concerning this goodwill visitor to Canada.

The House of Commons has given first and second reading to a government bill, No. 253, to make provision for the discipline and internal administration of visiting forces from the United States of America when present in Canada with the consent of the government of Canada. The bill defines "United States Force" as any body, contingent or detachment of the military, naval or air force of the United States of America that, with the consent of the government of Canada, is lawfully present in Canada or on board any of His Majesty's Canadian ships or aircraft.

The bill inspired a lengthy debate in which members went far afield to trumpet up arguments in opposition to it. I can see no possible harm or danger in the bill and I feel, like many others here, that in any defence plans we must work in close co-operation with those who have proven good neighbors.

There are four journalists among the 245 members of the House of Commons. Two of us from the weekly press field. Lawyers lead the list numbering 85 and farmers are second with 46. In all, 37 different vocations are listed by the members in their biographical sketches, including housewife Mrs. Gladys Strum, CCF Qu'Appelle, only woman member; one professional hockey player, Wilfred K. "Bucko" McDonald, Liberal, Parry Sound, and funeral director, J. A. Bonnier, Liberal, St. Henri-Montreal.

In third place in the vocational list are 15 merchants with school teachers and company presidents tied in fourth place with 11 representatives each amongst the members.

Other vocational categories listed by MPs include six doctors, five engineers, four insurance salesmen, two accountants, three lumbermen, three clergymen and a representative each of seamen, sales manager, architect, contractor, street car motor-man, electric operator, fisherman and army officer. Three members list themselves as retired and three put down their vocation as "gentlemen".

The Association of Ontario Mayors and Reeves representing all the municipalities of the province met in Ottawa last week. Reeve William Neal, Richmond Hill, was present as were many other municipal leaders of North York. The municipal representatives had a very interesting three-day program with an agenda including the discussion of many subjects of municipal and national concern. Special papers dealt with such topics as "inadequate municipal revenue and solutions therefor"; "municipal recreation programs"; "tourists in Canada", etc.

Special events included a dinner addressed by Hon. D. C. Abbott, minister of finance, and a reception at Rideau Hall where the municipal men met His Excellency, the governor general. Canada's tourist trade brought to this country last year $231 million dollars according to a recent statement issued by the department of trade and commerce. Representatives of the Newfoundland national convention and representatives of the government of Canada open their meetings in Ottawa June 25.

The national convention of Newfoundland, some time ago, passed a resolution expressing a desire to send a delegation to Ottawa to ascertain from the Canadian government what fair and equitable basis may exist for the federal union of Canada and Newfoundland.

There was a steady seasonal upswing in employment during April and early May. From April 10 to May 15 the number of jobless dropped by 40,000.

General A. G. L. McNaughton, Canada's representative on the United Nations Atomic Energy Commission, told the commons committee there was a "danger" that an aggressor nation might secretly manufacture atomic weapons, lose them on the world and thus gain global mastery.

Giving the house committee on external affairs a detailed report on progress towards international control of the new power, General McNaughton departed from his prepared text to observe that he frequently applied the word "dangerous" to atomic energy. "It is not dangerous," he explained, "in the sense that it would have an effect on individuals."

"It is dangerous in its military sense in that someone might secretly build up a war potential of atomic weapons and then lose them on the world and gain mastery of the world."

EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS

by Don Graham

Is the man who keeps informed on current affairs more likely to succeed?

I believe so. Most of the men I know who hold important jobs are interested in market trends, soil erosion, labor issues, politics and other topics of general importance. They can talk fluently and intelligently about such matters and usually their opinions are definite and well thought out.

This is not a coincidence. Rather, I think, it is an indication of a quality of mind which "thinks big."

"But I'm not interested in politics. They don't concern me," you may say.

The truth is — they do concern you and everyone interested in preserving our democratic way of life. And other vital current issues have a similar bearing on your individual world.

Enlarging our interests in these ways is not only good citizenship; judging by the examples of successful men, it also helps you get ahead.

Here is a fact which every Canadian should know: The combined investments in Life Insurance by over four million Canadians are an important factor in stabilizing the nation's economy.

FREE CHEST X-RAYS FOR NEWMARKET

Tuberculosis kills more Canadians between the ages of 18 and 45 than all other infectious diseases combined. During the most recent conflict, tuberculosis killed almost as many Canadians as there were war casualties. About 50,000 Canadians are, at this moment, actively ill with tuberculosis.

Pulmonary tuberculosis is an infectious, contagious and communicable disease. In its early stages, there are no readily visible symptoms. If caught early enough, tuberculosis can be cured. Tuberculosis can be discovered in the early stages by means of x-rays of the lungs.

These are the reasons why in six weeks, the residents of Newmarket, from school age up, will be offered the opportunity of a free chest x-ray. These are the reasons why everyone must take advantage of this offer. Those who do not have the x-rays taken are not only risking their own health but also the health of others, the members of their families, the friends they associate with.

The free chest x-ray is being sponsored by the Newmarket board of health under the supervision of the Gage Institute Chest Clinic, operated by the National Sanitarium Association. The survey has been financed by the sale of Christmas seals. No obligation is attached to those taking advantage of the survey except to observe the rules of procedure. Such as being on time for appointments. In return, the x-ray clinic provides a needed protection for you and your family. In the past, other dread diseases have been virtually eliminated by proper prevention. Tuberculosis can be eliminated too. But it is necessary that everyone fully co-operate. A survey of half of the citizens will accomplish little. A tubercular among those who did not take advantage of the survey could infect those who had their x-rays and thought themselves safe.

WHAT WILL THEY DO NEXT?

A few weeks ago, five-year-old Marion Delgado was busy in his backyard on an engineering project such as five-year-olds undertake with a single-mindedness they never after display. Nearby was the right-of-way of the Western Union railway. Marion needed some pieces of concrete to complete his project and he tried to break a 25-pound slab for that purpose.

Having no luck in his backyard, he took the slab to the railway and tried to break it across the rails. When that failed, he placed it on the rail and waited for the express to come through and do the job for him. The engine hit the concrete at 50 m.p.h., jumped the tracks, tore up 300 feet of track and toppled over. The engineer and four others were injured.

A picture of Marion and his slab of concrete against the background of the wrecked express was given national prominence, for the combination made a picture editor's dream. But for many parents, that picture is going to provide plenty of nightmares. No one yet has devised a way to anticipate a child's ingenuity and no matter how many loopholes his parents may plug with warnings and admonitions, Junior in his own, uncomplicated manner, is going to risk his life and the lives of others with some venture his parents never dreamed of in their wildest imaginings.

There was a five-year-old who was warned by his parents to stay away from electric wall outlets. Never must he put his fingers near them. He was told time and time again. The boy didn't get too near the outlet nor did he put his fingers in it. He stood back and plunged the tips of a long-nosed pair of scissors into the outlet instead. His mother fainted but she was the only casualty. And so it goes.

How a child reaches an age of some responsibility without blowing up his home because he wanted to see what would happen if he mixed this powder with that, or breaking his neck with a homemade airplane, or anyone of an endless list of possibilities for individual or mass homicide, is a mystery on par with that of the pyramids. Will their luck hold now that there are atoms to play with?

Ned Clark is dead. The reformed soak whose stooped figure and shuffling walk were as much a part of downtown Toronto as the spire of St. James Cathedral, died in a church hostel last week leaving unanswered the mystery of his origin and early history.

For Ned Clark was no ordinary bum. He was as dirty as the others. He sniped cigaret butts in the gutters and poked through the city garbage cans like the others, but there was none of his fellows who spoke Latin with the melodious fluency of Ned Clark. And none had the scholar's forehead and the long, bony nose of a thinker that Ned Clark had. Nor did they have the hands

Ned Clark had with their long, tapering fingers and broad palms, the hands of an artist.

Who Ned Clark was no one knew for sure. It was said he was a professor whose mind had broken from overwork; and again that he was a millionaire's son who drank too much. Whoever he was, he left behind a rich heritage of legends that will live as long as the magistrates sit in the musty courtrooms in the basement of Toronto's city hall.

They tell a story of how Ned, before he quit drinking a decade or so ago, welcomed a new magistrate to his duties on the bench. Said Ned to the magistrate (much junior to Ned as far as court appearances were concerned), "I congratulate Your Worship on your appointment. It is not given to all men to receive their just deserts in this life. I'm still waiting for mine." And again, after a spirited defence on his own behalf, in which Ned had somehow interjected the Constitution and the King into his argument, he wound up with "I wish His Majesty had my constitution and I had his brains."

But we remembered Ned best on a blistering day when the Battle of Britain was at its height, when no one knew what the next day would bring and the headlines told with little hope of a people who didn't know how to surrender. We remember Ned, peering with his faded eyes through the broken spectacles he kept in place by a string looped about his eye, speaking not of war but of ideas that have outlasted fire and pestilence through the ages. And how he shuffled on his way, not feeling the heat of the sun, nor knowing his rags or his dirt; secure in that cool, remote world of the mind. And, we think, a truly free man.

The "Balkan Coup" — the swift arrest of anti-communist leaders in Hungary by Russian occupation authorities and the elevation of pro-communists to positions of importance — should cause little surprise. It is the logical corollary to the Truman Doctrine; the Kremlin counter-move on the European chess-board.

What is surprising is the tone of reproach used by some commentators. These gentry seem more concerned with the ethics, or lack of them, of the Kremlin in breaking the Yalta Agreement respecting Hungary than in a realistic appraisal of the event. Surely by now the democratic world recognizes that observance of treaties and agreements is a matter of convenience to the Kremlin.

By assuring a sympathetic government in Hungary, and Bulgaria, too, by removing the opposition on trumped up charges and replacing them with friends, Russia is answering Uncle Sam's "Dollar Diplomacy" in Turkey and Greece with its own brand of diplomacy. Thus the battle lines are drawn, and the nations on the field — the United States with unlimited funds (if Congress is prepared to spend them and apparently it is) and Russia with the weapons of geography and a fanatic faith in the ideology of communism and completely unhindered by scruples in spreading it.

There are those who will argue that it was the Truman Doctrine of financial aid to combat communist pressure on Greece and Turkey that has brought about the Balkan coup, that if the United States had not interfered, it would not have happened. On the record, such an argument is foolish. The pattern of Russian expansion is all too obvious. The Truman Doctrine precipitated the coup but it would have come about sooner or later. Because of the urgency of offsetting American moves in Greece and Turkey, the Russians were less subtle—that's the only difference.

Wars are made in the far away places, the Sarejvos and the Polish borders of the world. The corner stones of a lasting peace are being laid in the obscure hamlets and crossroads of Greece and Turkey where American dollars are demonstrating American recognition that only a non-totalitarian Europe will ensure peace for the United States; and more important, a willingness to invest in that sort of Europe.

THE COMMON ROUND

New A Grosbeak The bluejays shouted, the sparrows chattered and then, among them came a bird about the size of a robin, only sturdier, with dark wings and a yellowish green breast, a grosbeak. He walked among them, unafraid, quiet, not eating, but a striking figure with his strong, yellow beak and fine coloring. He came directly under the window, cocked his head and looked at me and walked on, intent on business of his own—no doubt

OTTAWA LETTER by "Jack" Smith, M.P. North York

The big event of the week here in Ottawa was the visit of the president of the United States. Mr. Truman has been accorded an enthusiastic welcome and has made a good impression here.

We heard the president in the commons Wednesday morning and met him at a noon-day luncheon. There may have been more colorful and more spectacular presidents but Mr. Truman impressed me as a man of character and ability who is making a sincere effort in one of the biggest jobs in the world. As the president is still here at the time of writing, I may have more to say next week concerning this goodwill visitor to Canada.

The House of Commons has given first and second reading to a government bill, No. 253, to make provision for the discipline and internal administration of visiting forces from the United States of America when present in Canada with the consent of the government of Canada. The bill defines "United States Force" as any body, contingent or detachment of the military, naval or air force of the United States of America that, with the consent of the government of Canada, is lawfully present in Canada or on board any of His Majesty's Canadian ships or aircraft.

The bill inspired a lengthy debate in which members went far afield to trumpet up arguments in opposition to it. I can see no possible harm or danger in the bill and I feel, like many others here, that in any defence plans we must work in close co-operation with those who have proven good neighbors.

There are four journalists among the 245 members of the House of Commons, two of us from the weekly press field. Lawyers lead the list numbering 85, and farmers are second with 46. In all, 37 different vocations are listed by the members in their biographical sketches, including housewife Mrs. Gladys Strum, CCF Qu'Appelle, only woman member; one professional hockey player, Wilfred K. "Bucko" McDonald, Liberal, Parry Sound, and funeral director, J. A. Bonnier, Liberal, St. Henri-Montreal.

In third place in the vocational list are 15 merchants with school teachers and company presidents tied in fourth place with 11 representatives each amongst the members.

Other vocational categories listed by MPs include six doctors, five engineers, four insurance salesmen, two accountants, three lumbermen, three clergymen and a representative each of seamen, sales manager, architect, contractor, street car motor-

THE BELL TELEPHONE COMPANY OF CANADA

EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS

Is the man who keeps informed on current affairs more likely to succeed?

I believe so. Most of the men I know who hold important jobs are interested in market trends, soil erosion, labor issues, politics and other topics of general importance. They can talk fluently and intelligently about such matters and usually their opinions are definite and well thought out.

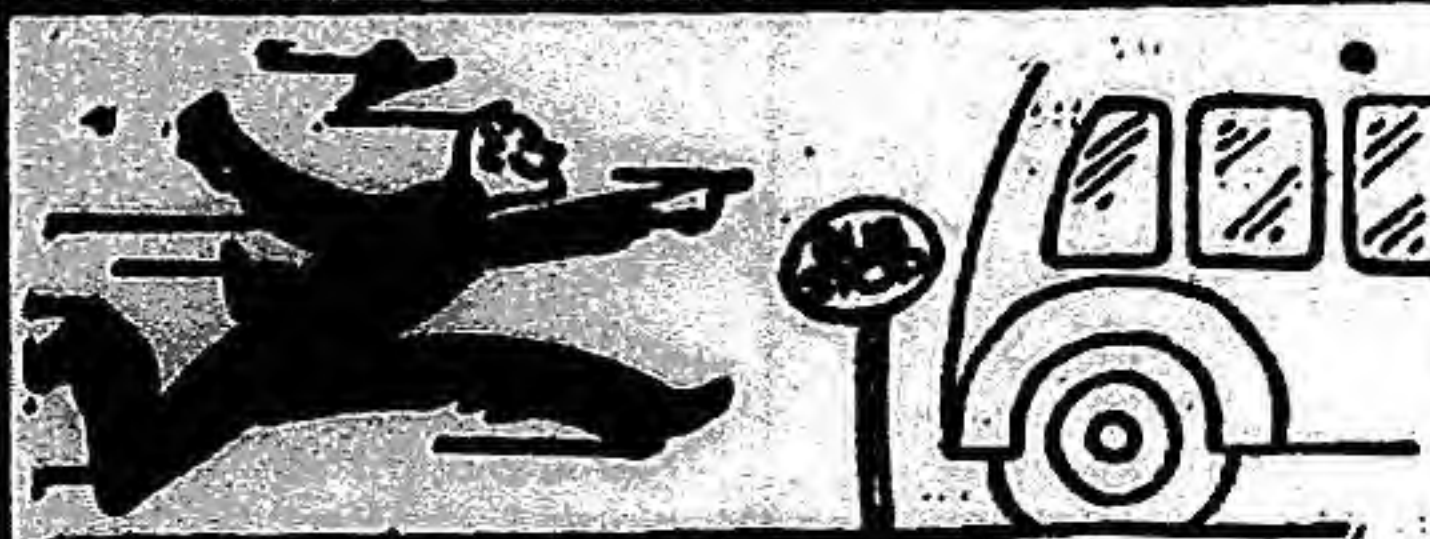

This is not a coincidence. Rather, I think, it is an indication of a quality of mind which "thinks big."

"But I'm not interested in politics. They don't concern me," you may say.

The truth is — they do concern you and everyone interested in preserving our democratic way of life. And other vital current issues have a similar bearing on your individual world.

Enlarging our interests in these ways is not only good citizenship; judging by the examples of successful men, it also helps you get ahead.

Here is a fact which every Canadian should know: The combined investments in Life Insurance by over four million Canadians are an important factor in stabilizing the nation's economy.

Rain Strong Competition
But Doesn't Spoil Big Day

By RON MAX

A crowd of about 2,500, not including approximately 200 children, enjoyed Mount Albert's 23rd annual sports day which, according to the committee, proved a real success. The only thing to mar the event was the weather. Around 2 p.m., shortly after the event had started, a cloudy sky made people keep both fingers crossed, but it was not until 8 p.m. that the weather man decided to call it a day.

The park was in good condition, considering the weather earlier in the week. Most of the ground was damp and after a time cars were finding it difficult to move. On the diamond, the ground and bases had been cindered over, which was an advantage appreciated by the players.

As usual the side shows were in evidence and included such stalls as "ringing the bell", "guessing your age", "rifle shooting", "darts", "placing the penny", "coconut balls", "palministry", "guessing your weight", "throwing the rings" and other smaller items. Perhaps one of the most interesting stalls was "ringing the bell". It appeared that a person needed lots of weight and force.

Seeing somebody (no names please?) of about 150 lbs. that knew the trick do it, brought a laugh from the crowd. It was noticeable that one important show that the children liked was missing, the merry-go-round. Some of the children found it hard to put in their time and it would have been a great help to the parents.

The loudspeakers supplied by Bruce Gould, Uxbridge, and mounted on his car roof told everyone what was going on. The juvenile concert was heard by those at the ball game and combined two events into one. Shortly after 2 p.m. the ball games got underway. The first game between Zephyr and Unionville resulted in a win for Unionville of 3-2. Woods defeated Claremont 10-1 in a one-sided tussle. The next game had Newmarket Vets and Richmond Hill in a game which was well played, resulting in a win for Richmond Hill of 1-0. Enthusiasm was high as the local team went against Aurora and the result was a clean, fast game which brought Mount Albert a win of 2-1. In the semi-finals, Richmond Hill played Unionville and showed the Hill boys to advantage in a 7-4 decision. Once again the locals came into the field as the opponents to Woods. It was a wonderful game—clean and well played, and showed

A series of ball games were played among the public school teams, represented by entries from Holt, Queensville, Scott, Hope, Ravenshoe and Mount Albert. Enthusiastic spirit was shown in all these games, and clean sportsmanship by all the players. The winners in order: Holt, Mount Albert, Queensville.

Another important event was being held in the hall while the above sports and concert programmes were in progress. That was the baking contest, which saw some beautiful cakes, pies and tarts. Your reporter must plead guilty to sampling some of the pies and cakes, but in the line of duty, of course.

The results in the baking contest in the order of exhibits were: chocolate cake, Mrs. R. Cupples, Mrs. Rogers; angel cake, Mrs. Ira Morton; raisin pie, Mrs. B. Sliver, Miss E. Hayes; cream pie, Mrs. D. Moorehead; corn syrup tarts, Mrs. B. Sliver, Mrs. B. Rogers; berry tarts, Mrs. B. Rogers, Mrs. R. Cupples; tea biscuits, Mrs. I. Morton, Mrs. G. Walsh; potato salads, Mrs. H. Shillinglaw, Mrs. D. Moorehead; children's entries, bran muffins, Judy Morton; light cakes, Gail Kurtz and Anna Morton.

Towards evening when everyone was hoping to do some outdoor dancing, or hear the concert in the hall the rain caused and actors' spirits. But it may be said that the performers really bore it well, and the majority of those listening did appreciate their efforts, and thoroughly enjoyed the concert. The following acts were performed: Edna Reid Carrow, soprano; Veronica Gibbons, dancer; Margaret Lewis, accordionist; Will Davies, ventriloquist; Jessie MacGregor, pianist.

Just before the dance started, the lucky draw took place. The lucky numbers were in order: 00220, 01189, 01174, 01249, 01515, 01277, 00395. It should be noted that winners of first, third, and seventh are adult tickets, the remainder are children's tickets. The holders of the above lucky numbers are asked to contact Wm. Robertson, Mount Albert station agent, as soon as possible for their prizes.

Dancing then commenced to Don Gilkes' eight-piece orchestra. An enjoyable day was brought to a close at midnight with God Save the King.

COUNCIL TO PROBE

"It's a question of balancing the principle involved against the probability that the formation of an area would mean an increase in school taxes to the Newmarket property-owner," Councillor Luck said.

Members of the council voted unanimously in favor of the proposal for one big area, however, if an area were to be formed at all, and Reeve Evans was instructed to make the position of the council clear in that regard at the meeting of the municipalities.

Councillor George Byers introduced a petition signed by 20 taxpayers asking that a building inspector inspect buildings at Queen and Main Sts., owned by Norm Sedore, before he is allowed to move them into a residential area on Queen St. W.

"I understood we had a by-law to stop that sort of thing," Fred Bowser, instigator of the petition, said.

"The street is classed as a residential area but that is the only restriction on the type of building that can be put there," Mr. Bosworth said.

"We have a by-law which regulates the minimum distance that a building can be from the street. We cannot do anything except enforce that," Mayor Vale said.

"Residential area' only means that no stores can be erected there," Councillor Luck said.

"A by-law to govern this particular case would not stand up in court," Mayor Vale said. "It would be called discriminatory."

"We should have a by-law to protect property-owners from that type of building," Councillor Birrell said.

"That would have to be done by areas. In theory it is all right but not in application," Mayor Vale said.

"This petition only asks us to have the building inspector inspect the buildings before they are moved," Mr. Luck said. "It is certainly our duty to do that."

"The only power a building inspector has is the power to condemn a building for sanitary reasons or when it is structurally unsafe," Mr. Bosworth said.

"Other than that, the restriction that a house may not be closer than 20 feet to the streetline is the only one that applies."

"It is only 13 feet from the streetline to his foundation," Mr. Bowser said.

The matter was referred to Mr. Bosworth for investigation.

A deputation from the Newmarket District Co-operative asked for an option on the land next to International Wood for the purpose of erecting a new mill. No decision was reached on the matter.

Interesting Reading For Everyone

Young Hopefuls

By DOROTHY MUIR BOWMAN

Not As Bad As It Looks

Nora is a teenager who worries about her figure. Actually, her upper limbs are somewhat over-size for the rest of her body. However, since nothing can conveniently change nature's pattern for her construction, let's help Nora adjust herself by accepting the shape she's in and appreciating its numerous redeeming qualities.

We might try to change Nora's attitude—that of an introvert—and help minimize the importance she attaches to what she labels her "gross affliction".

Usually, those personal imperfections that annoy the individual possessing them pass practically unnoticed by others. It is when an individual's personality becomes thwarted because of too much introspection and brooding that society becomes aware and aloof. Then it is time for the individual to concentrate on others, their problems and pleasures, and what they think and do.

An open session of confessions regarding individual imperfections, which have persisted in bothering the individual, would reveal a great variety of seemingly trivial problems. Nevertheless, these seemingly trivial problems are very disturbing to the one confronted with them. They are responsible for unnecessary unhappiness.

During adolescence, personal imperfections assume exaggerated proportions — especially among the girls. The too-tall girl would rather miss the fun than date a short boy. The too-fat girl suffers on a reducing diet and spasmodically gives up her chief pleasure — eating sweets. The skinny one wears long sleeves and hates herself in a bathing suit. Some girls resist their pug noses; others, their large noses, big feet, small heads or big heads, thick necks or scrawny necks, etc.

One girl was especially sensitive about her ears because they weren't mates. She wore her hair to cover them until a hair-dresser gave her a more becoming upsweep hairdo. The hair-dresser hadn't noticed the unmatched ears. After all, she couldn't see both ears at the same time and only a side by side comparison would make the difference obvious.

If there aren't proportions to worry the adolescents, there may be freckles or moles, poor complexions, wrong color of hair eyes or skin, less money or fewer clothes than friends have, a family skeleton, etc., etc., etc.

In Nora's instance, she should be applauding her oversize upper limbs instead of deploring them. In an effort to reduce them, she took exercises in the form of dancing and first discovered her natural aptitude for this rhythmic skill.

Time helps one to adjust to one's problems. Time broadens one's horizons; and the adolescent introvert discovers there are many important, absorbing and satisfying things to think about and to do—leaving no time for useless worry about personal imperfections.

MAGISTRATE'S COURT ARGUMENT OVER BILL ENDS BEFORE BENCH

Newmarket — Phyllis Cook, Toronto, was convicted of common assault in magistrate's court here on Friday, and was fined $10 and costs. Magistrate J. E. Pritchard, K.C., presided.

Mrs. Annie McKinley, Oak Ridges, testified that Mrs. Cook and a man named William Johnson came into her store on May 25 and asked her to recommend a place where they could have their car fixed. She said they asked her to ask her son to fix the car after she had recommended several other places, and she told them she would ask him. She said her son did not want to fix the car but had been persuaded to do so and then Johnson had refused to pay. She said the boy had refused to let them have the car until they did pay, and the man went away, leaving the woman in the garage.

Mrs. McKinley said she had requested the woman to leave the garage and go into the store, but the woman refused and struck her twice, bending her glasses. "I pushed her and she fell in the mud," Mrs. McKinley said. "My face was all swollen for two days. I did not push her before she struck me and my son did not strike her." Norman and Fred McKinley corroborated the evidence given by their mother.

George McIntyre testified that he had seen Norman McKinley push Mrs. Cook, but had not seen what had happened before that. William Johnson testified that he and Mrs. Cook had gone over to the car to put their coats in it. He said he had gone to phone the police when the McKinleys had refused to give him an itemized receipt for the work done on the car, and when he was returning he saw the "scuffling" in front of the garage. "I saw Mrs. McKinley take a slap at Mrs. Cook," he said. Asked for itemized Receipt

Mrs. Cook said she had been sitting in the car when the two boys came down and asked her to pay the bill. "I asked for an itemized receipt and they would not give me one. Mrs. McKinley told me to get out of the garage, and she pushed me. When I pushed her, Norman McKinley grabbed me and knocked me down in the mud," Mrs. Cook said. "Mrs. McKinley did not ask me to go into the store to wait. She hit me first and knocked my purse out of my arms."

Magistrate Pritchard ruled that Mrs. McKinley was entitled to ask Mrs. Cook to leave the garage, and to use reasonable force to make her do so. "I am satisfied that Johnson did not see any of the altercation," he said. "In short I accept the evidence of the witnesses for the complainant and find that Mrs. Cook resented Mrs. McKinley's request to leave and did strike her. There will be a conviction." Mrs. Cook pressed a counter-charge that Norman McKinley had assaulted her. "When they pushed me out of the garage, he stepped into me and hit me in the face, knocking me over backward into the mud. My legs were all bruised in the fall," she said. Said "Made a Pass"

William Johnson testified that he had seen Mrs. McKinley "make a pass" at Mrs. Cook, and "Norman pushed her with his left hand." Norman McKinley said that he had pushed her when she went after his mother to strike her again. Mrs. McKinley said she pushed Mrs. Cook with her knee at about the same time as Norman pushed her, and that her knee had provided most of the impetus of the push.

"It was only human nature and the manly duty of the accused to protect his mother from the unwarranted assault," Magistrate Pritchard said. "Furthermore, he was entitled to assist her in using the necessary force to make the woman leave the premises. No more than reasonable force was used, and the charge will be dismissed."

John Lawlor, R. R. 1, King, pleaded guilty to a charge of having liquor in an illegal place. Constable William Langman testified that he had seen Lawlor coming out of Dan's Cafe, Aurora, with a bottle of wine in his pocket. Accused was fined $10 and costs or one month and the wine was confiscated.

Hurry Shaw, Newmarket, was convicted of being intoxicated in a public place and was fined $10 and costs. Constable W. R. Hill, Sr., laid the charge.

James Purdy, Toronto, and Charles H. Walker, Lansing, were convicted of driving with defective brakes and were fined $15 and $10 respectively. Constable J. Jardine laid the charges.

Enthusiastic York Juniors Meet For Judging Tests

A highlight of the past week was the York county junior farmer livestock judging contest and girls' achievement day at Newmarket June 4 which was attended by an enthusiastic group of juniors. Forty-seven young men registered in the boys' section representing all six local junior farmer clubs. There were a number of new boys in the junior competition and the credit for their attendance is largely due to the leadership and training given by the local junior farmer coaches. The girls' section, featuring the units, "Clothes May Be Smart," "Summer Clothes For Girls," and "Dress-Up Home-Grown Vegetables," and presented in the parish hall, contained many very attractive exhibits.

The farms visited for the livestock classes this year were: Elton Armstrong, Armistage, draft horses; Walter Woods, Aurora, Belgian horses; Geo. Rodanz, Ringwood, Hereford heifers and young bulls; Lloyd Turner, Stouffville, Holstein cows; Earl Walton, Newmarket, Ayrshire cows; Pickering College farm, Newmarket, Yorkshire gilts and market hogs. Charles Walton of Kettleby brought in two classes of sheep, Cheviot and Oxford, for the convenience of the boys.

Following the competition a banquet was held in St. Andrew's Presbyterian church and presided over by Bruce Snider, president of the York County junior farmers. The group was welcomed and addressed briefly by the minister, Rev. R. E. M. Boudreau. A spirited sing-song led by W. M. Cockburn, agricultural representative for York, preceded two entertaining recitation numbers by Michael Murphy of Newmarket. Two humorous stunts were then carried on by junior farmers themselves and met with whole-hearted approval. Then followed the announcement of awards by Miss Lulu Row, home economist for York county, and Archie L. McKenzie, assistant agricultural representative, Newmarket.

Mrs. Jack Couperthwaite of the Unionville club was the winner of the A. J. H. Eckardt Memorial Trophy for outstanding achievement. The Province of Ontario Savings Office Trophy, awarded to the girls' club with the most outstanding work, was again won by the Vellore group.

Evelyn Hare of Maple won the free trip to Washington for all around ability. Ray Ingleton of Agincourt, high man in both junior and senior contests and winner of the Col. Geo. B. Little Shield, won the free trip to Chicago, an award based on general proficiency in all junior farmer activities. Garfield Bennett, also of Agincourt, won the Hon. Geo. S. Henry Trophy being the high senior man. Mason Fletcher, Woodbridge, won the coach's special for his high team of Carl Boynton, Woodbridge; Duncan Watson, Woodbridge; and Keith Walton, Kleinburg.

The inter-township award was taken by the Scarboro team of Ray Ingleton, Garfield Bennett and Ed. McGriskin, all of Agincourt. To the high standing boy in each class in the junior competition the following challenge trophies were presented: horses, E. T. Stephens and Jas. McLean Trophy, Ed. McGriskin, Agincourt; beef, John Gardhouse Trophy, Ray Ingleton, Agincourt; dairy, Gordon Duncan Trophy, Duncan Watson, Woodbridge; sheep, D. W. Baxter Trophy, Keith Walton, Kleinburg; swine, Boynton Bros. Trophy, Carl Boynton, Woodbridge.

PENSION OF PEACE FOR CHILDREN OF '47

By J. JAY WATSON

The spring festival concert of the Newmarket public schools on May 30 in the arena had many attractions. The chorus of 250 students was conducted by Herman G. Fowler, Mus. Bac., and the folk dances and specialty numbers by teachers of the schools. The Newmarket Citizens' Band was conducted by Robert Moore.

For the writer, the May pole dance opened a door into what I choose to think of as realities of the generations ahead awaiting unfoldment. As the boys and girls, about 20 of them, of eight to ten years, came tripping in and danced gaily around the May pole, I found myself thinking of what time would reveal to the world in the span of years between now and, say, 2010 A.D. when some of the blitheless participants in the May pole dance of 1947 are among the elderly onlookers.

The generation of the septuagenarians of today, in its span of years, has witnessed marvelous changes, the telegraph, illuminating gas, the telephone, electric light, the phonograph, the radio, the airplane, and countless other things. What the future will produce is no less intriguing.

For the moment, however, the writer's mind is dwelling upon the moral change to be hoped for in the human outlook. If mankind in tomorrow can grow in reverence for justice, with its development of material things, then may we not look for an increasingly higher measure of contented relations between man and man. There are age-old principles, the habitual use of which will so mould the organ of thought in man that they will give stimulus, as between high and low alike, to dispense even-handed justice to all.

A child learns the multiplication table in school, and uses it—because daily, life calls for it. In like manner the Ten Commandments in all their fullness of meaning, learned as the multiplication table is, will impart to the mind such a characteristic for just dealings in daily life that a contented mind will endow the owner with A Pension of Peace.

If the school children of Newmarket from Grade 8 and upwards, and the children in the schools of all Christendom had the advantage of supplementing their present school work with a study of the character-forming principles in the Ten Commandments, the two hence would realize that its moral character had, and was growing in consciousness of God's blessing as never before. There is a study of the Ten Commandments, non-denominational in character, which if made available as a text book (20 to 30 pages) would prove to be priceless as a Pension of Peace to the students.

Sitting in my seat at the spring festival concert, I saw the happy May pole dancers and others of their ages occupying the seats of the onlookers in a festival concert in year 2010. As this concert of 2010 is nearing its close I see the Presentation of Colors, representing the Ten Commandments. In the array of flags I see on one the inscription: "Train up a child in the way he should go, and even when he is old he will not depart from it." — Prov. XXII-6. On another flag is the inscription: "These words, which I command thee this day, shall be upon thy heart; and thou shalt teach them diligently unto thy children, and shalt talk of them when thou sittest in thy house, way, and when thou liest down, and when thou risest up." — Deut. VI-6 and 7.

Self help is democratic, and it is the best help. The recommendation offered here is an appeal for the approach to a world problem—the pursuit of the recommendation will touch every life, for all children, at least substitute for home training, or in English-speaking countries.

This suggestion is not as a for the Sunday-school but is to supplement these with basic truths in a methodical way. Through this everyday practical system we have a worthy and an attainable goal for A Pension of Peace.

THE AMAZING DEVELOPMENT

in farm machinery

100 YEARS AGO, two good men with a cradle and rake could cut and bind three acres of grain in a day. Then there still remained the laborious task of threshing the grain with a flail on the barn floor.

Today one man with a Massey-Harris self-propelled combine can cut and thresh up to 50 acres in a day.

Just think of the tedious, back-breaking labor in cultivating, seeding, harvesting and threshing which the farmer of today escapes through the use of modern farm machinery.

The development of labor-saving farm machinery in which Massey-Harris has played a leading part since 1847 has had an important bearing on our daily lives. Before 1830 the farmer produced mostly for himself and his family; today he raises crops chiefly to sell. The huge increase in farm production brought about by farm machinery during the last century has been an important factor behind the rapid climb in the standard of living both on the farm and in the city.

Today at the beginning of the second century of its history, this company looks forward to a continuance of its service in helping the farmer to produce more and better crops, easier, quicker and at lower cost.

Massey-Harris No. 21 Self-Propelled Reaper-Combine

With this machine you can cut, thresh, and clean your grain in one operation. It will cut up to 50 acres a day, and thresh and clean 100 bushels of grain in one hour.

The North York
GARDENER

By JOHN DALY
Vice President, Newmarket
Horticultural Society

Earlier I remarked that without unlimited resources, your perennial border would be rather disappointing in its quantity and variety the first year. However, a few packets of annual seeds will remedy this and they will prove so desirable that probably you will continue growing them in future years.
Asters and Zinnias are musts in every garden. They grow 2' to 2½' in height so are suitable for the middle of the border. There is a wide range of colors. Buy the wilt-resistant strains of Asters. Other annuals suitable for the middle of the border are: African Marigolds: They grow about 3' high, flowers of deep red, orange to bright yellow which are 3" to 5" across,
should have lots of moisture;
Larkspur, should be sown where they are to bloom. However, the plants taken up in thinning them out will transplant although they will be about two weeks later in blooming. Always in transplanting these or any other plant give them lots of water and shade them from the sun for a few days; Scabiosa, growing 2' to 2½', wide variety of color from white to almost black; Calendula, growing 1½' to 2', have various shades of yellow and orange; Cleome, particularly the type called Pink Queen is a very desirable plant, 4' high but starts to bloom when 6", high from June until frost. Does not transplant readily so should be sown where they will bloom. This also applies to the annual poppies. Among the annuals for the front part of the border are Sweet Alyssum, a favorite edging, blooms quickly from seed and is a mass of color. Flowers hide the foliage and it continues blooming until the last frosts have killed most flowers in the gardens. Most common color is white but lilac and violet are available now; Ageratum, excellent for edge of border, about 6" high and shades of blue in color;
French Marigolds, grow from 6" to 12", and are old favorites.
Recently vast improvements have been made. They prefer a drier position than do the African Marigolds; California Poppies, grow from 6" to 12" and are mostly in yellow and orange shades although white, pink and red can be obtained;
Dwarf Nasturtiums, are most popular and the variety of colors has been increased in recent years; Annual Phlox, growing 12" to 18", is another favorite, produces wide range of color
over a long season; Portulaca, blooms in hottest weather when

Mrs. Simpson Horner, Khedive, Sask.

other plants are dying from heat and drought, 12" to 15" in height and comes in white and shades of red and yellow.

For the back of the border
there are: Cosmos, graceful plants growing 4' to 5' in height, with large flowers in white,
pink or red. I tried a new strain last year with flowers of yellow and orange but the flowers were smaller and the foliage coarser so that I recommend the original types. Finally for climbing the fence or verandah, an excellent annual is the Morning Glory.
The most popular variety is Heavenly Blue which describes the color exactly. Pearly Gates —white and Scarlet O'Hara—red are also excellent.

This list although far from complete, should help to suggest annuals to fill those vacant spaces in your border.

MOSTLY OF CABBAGES AND KINGS

George Stark, flashy winger of Newmarket Vets hockey team and before that a member of Aurora junior hockeyists, is masterminding Willowdale ladies' softball club this summer. It is entered in the North York league of which Leonard Simmons, Aurora, is president. Stark played third base last year as well as he does hockey. Rev. Gordon Lapp, Keswick, leaves shortly for Calgary for what is undoubtedly an important change in his ministerial career and one up the ladder. Mr. Lapp, besides being missed by his own congregation, will linger in the hearts of district sports fans for his promotional efforts in minor sports, especially hockey, and the backing given to softball. His place will be hard to fill.

Ken Kyle, elongated ex-basketballer of Aurora high, now attending University of Toronto where he is studying dentistry, is the new secretary of King Canadian Legion branch. Turk Ferguson, who back in 1938 was the hardrock, bash-em-down buckaroo of the Aurora junior defence, is now taking a body and fender course at Hamilton for ex-servicemen. Turk has only played a few games of mercantile hockey since the war but he has lent a willing shoulder to the sports program of Aurora Canadian Legion. Harold Babcock, assessor for the county of York, has been elected as president of the Toronto Skating club, the ace figure skating organization of the province.

Grant McCachen "mine host" at Ridge Inn, Oak Ridges, ran into tough luck in the recent Irish Sweepstakes draw. Grant purchased a ticket and by a strange coincidence the next ticket by one to him was drawn and to add insult to injury, the same name de plume was used. Caused quite a bit of excitement in the McCachen household as it looked as if a mistake might have been made, but it didn't work out that way. Ginger Hall, who guarded the twine cage for Sutton Greenshirts in 1932 when they won the Ontario Intermediate A hockey championship, is playing goal for West York lakeshores this season in senior and in the very first game of the season, a winning one for his club, he stopped a hard shot with his proboscis resulting in a broken nose and absenteeism from lacrosse for some weeks.

Beaverton is the smallest centre in Ontario to have a full time community recreation director and if you don't think that director Fred French hasn't done a grand job ask any of the folks up that way. The Beaverton people are sold on the value of the job being done and its value to the community. The program excels anything done in York county with the exception of Weston. Norm Mabley, softballer and hockeyist of Richmond Hill, recently middle-aged it and the occasion was marked by his comrades of the Hill Canadian Legion with a fine presentation. Mabley is president of the Hill Legionnaires. Midget lacrosse, 17 and under, has been organized for North York with Bolton, Woodbridge, Maple-Elia, Richmond Hill and Combines ready for action. An urgent appeal to Aurora has been made by those in charge of the league to field a team. Most of the youngsters who played for Aurora last year are over the 17 mark but there is a nucleus of a team available and many more kids who want to play are awaiting word about a team. We hope this catches the eye of someone who will take over the job of organizing the Aurora boys. Bob Empringham, Toronto, will bring his trick horse, "Baldy", to Aurora on Saturday for a specially performance. The gee-gee waltzes, skips and side-steps to music. In the evening Billy Hole and His Livewires will give out with the downbeat for a big finale to the annual horse show.

Detroit Red Wings have severed their connection with Galt juniors of the O.H.A. A series and will shift over to Windsor where they gave partial aid last year and where ex-big leaguer Eddie Goodfellow is the coach. Several junior players from the local O.H.A. group were scouted last year by the senior A clubs and we could name right now at least two who are considering making a move before next winter. It'll save embarrassment to keep mum. Charlie Case has taken over the coaching of Aurora Ladies' Softball club and "Casey" has his hands full trying to pick a team, not because of lack of candidates but because of the number trying out. Lucille Case is behind the plate and seems to be the only candidate assured of a starting post. Joyce Foote, Mary Gilkes and Gwen Myke are pitching prospects on hand and all three have experience and ability. When not on the mound they may well be placed elsewhere. Margaret McIntosh and Pat Anderson are the first base candidates and youthful Joanne Deolittle of the well known Aurora athlete family appears to be a sure starter at second. Shirley Saigle, May White, Iris Lawson and Betty Corbett are working out at third and short. The infield should be strong this year. Miss Aileen Belyea of the high school staff, along with Vanetta Maaten, are heading the outfield aspirants who also include Marion Rose, Florence Bell and Irene Patenden. There are one or two more whom we have doubtless missed but Case feels he will have a team capable of winning the group by play-off time. They expected to open the season at Stouffville on Monday last. When they arrived at Stouffville there was no opposition so coach Case moved over to Unionville where the team was alleged to have been scheduled. Likewise no opposition. The girls enjoyed the ride but were a bit annoyed at the mix-up. No one knows where the blame lies.

Bill Fry, promising young golfer at the Highlands, club is being transferred from the Aurora branch of the Bank of Montreal to the Toronto Royal York branch. He'll continue to play at Aurora, however. Newmarket Lions club has voted $200 to the newly formed Newmarket midget club which makes its debut this week. Bill Haskett is looking after the team and William vows that he has a better team in tow than brother George. They have fifty uniforms, too, and the canal town Leos are deserving of praise for their gesture. There are five clubs entered in the midget series and both the Hill and Markham are said to have strong clubs.

Stouffville-Newmarket Split
Decisions In Ball Openers

By GEORGE HASKETT, JR.

George "Smoky" Smith, Stouffville's baseball coach, is all smiles again. His hardballers got their revenge on the Newmarket juniors Wednesday evening at the Stouffville town park, the Lions turning back the Redmen by a 9-6 count. It was a hard fought battle, both teams fashioning to lead only to see it vanish in the next inning. The win moved the Stouffville crew into first place in the league standing with the local nine in second place.

The Redmen opened their attack in the first, Tommy McHale reaching first on an infield error. Jimmy Rutledge came through with a single and Grant Blight sent both across the plate when he smote out a long double. Stouffville evened it up in the second, "Hocus Pocus" Miller and Ken Schell scoring. Grant Blight scored in the third but the Stouffville Lions moved into the lead, getting two in their turn at the plate in the third, and one in the fourth. "Lefty" Gibson took over the mound duties at this point to silence the Stouffville hitters.

In the fifth, the Redmen moved back into a 6-5 lead with a three-run spurge. Jim Rutledge opening the session with a single. Stan Winger polling out a double to score. Rutledge, Johnny McTavish walking and Ivan Gibson sending both Winger and McTavish home with a ringing single.

Stouffville put over the clinching runs in the sixth with three-run barrage, loading the sacks with two away and two runs tallying when a hard hit ground ball got away from first baseman Bill Hopper.

Jim Rutledge led the Redmen at the bat, banging out three singles and was robbed of another by a great pick-up by "Hocus Pocus" Miller. Stan Winger polled out a double, a single and had a walk to give Jim Rutledge a battle for hitting honors. Grant Blight had a double to his credit with Johnny McTavish and left field Bill Johnston, each with singles, being responsible for the other Redmen hits.

Ken Broughton started the game on the mound but went out in the fourth in favor of Ivan Gibson. Gibson pitched good ball and deserved to win. His single in the fifth, which brought in two runs, helped his cause along and almost proved enough to win the game.

Friday night, June 13, Aurora comes to town to engage the Redmen at the S.S. school grounds. Stouffville and Aurora put on a terrific battle Monday night with Stouffville winning out 6-3. Tommy Dales or Don Brown will likely take on the pitching chore for the local forecs.

NEW SCOUT CHARTER TO AURORA LEGION

Aurora — The old charter of the Aurora Boy Scouts has been surrendered to provincial headquarters and a new charter with the Aurora Branch 385, Canadian Legion, as sponsors is being issued. Robert Hodgkinson heads the Legion group committee with Claude White and William Hatfield as members. Henry Starkey heads the Cub pack and Dawson Brown is assistant Cub master. Capt. W. Stevens of the Salvation Army is Scoutmaster with Harold Lubbock, Jr., as assistant. In his report to the Aurora Legion Mr. Hodgkinson paid tribute to the services rendered by the Scout movement by John Crabtree and Harold Lubbock, Sr., who carried the heavy burden of organization for many months.

Midgets, Juniors Open
Ball Season Tonight

Newmarket—Rev. Henry Cotton will toss the first ball at 7.30 tonight to start the season for the new midget and junior leagues in town, and Father T. E. J. McCabe will be the batter on the receiving end. Eight teams composed of Trail Rangers, Explorers, Boy Scouts and Cubs, and any other interested boys between the ages of nine and 15 will comprise the leagues, and the winners in league competition will play off in a best-of-seven series.

Scene of the opener is the field behind Trinity United church and Mr. Cotton says that all boys who take part will receive crests from the Davis Leather and Office Specialty Companies, while members of the winning teams will receive sweaters or blazers in addition. Harry Nellis, Howard Hugo, Bert Budd and Alfred Peel, leaders of the four groups, are also expected to take an active part in the season's openers. Mr. Cotton requests all boys going to either the junior or senior camps to bring their registration forms to the ball games tonight.

BANTAMS' FIRST WIN
Aurora—Aurora bantams took their first start of the season last week as they defeated Richmond Hill 5-4. Andy Closs and "Baldy" Summers provided Aurora with a strong battery that gave the local kids the edge.

By GEO. HASKETT, JR.

Newmarket juniors, showing plenty of power at the plate, opened their baseball season last Friday evening at the fair grounds, humbling the highly rated and improved Stouffville nine by a 14-4 count.

Bill Hopper was elected to take the mound for the local forces and silenced most of the Stouffville hitsmiths, allowing but four hits. Ivan "Lefty" Gibson, working in a relief role for one inning, held the visitors scoreless.

Stan Winger, who turned in a first class catching job, led the Redmen attack with a homer and a single. Winger's homer came in the third with shortstop Jimmy Rutledge on the base-paths. Johnny McTavish followed Winger's four-ply blow with a single with Motts Thoms doubling and Bill Johnston chasing both runners across the plate with a clean single into centre field.

The Redmen proved they were "Ready for Freddy" Spelman in their turn at the plate in the fifth, sending over eight runs before Umpire Murphy called a halt to proceedings on account of darkness. Johnny McTavish opened the eight-run attack with his second single, Bill Johnston, Tommy McHale and Jim Rutledge getting free passes to first while Ivan Gibson, Grant Blight, Red Palmateer and Stan Winger followed this round of charity from Spelman with successive singles to build up the eight-run total.

Stouffville had their big innings in the fourth when they pushed home three runs on two walks given out by Bill Hopper, an infield error, and Jewett's single.

AURORA OPENS FIRE
WITH 2-1 VICTORY

Aurora softballers got off to a fine start on Tuesday night as they edged out Langstaff 2-1 in a thrill-packed game at Thornhill. Bill Bowen, the home moundman, allowed but three hits in seven frames but Aurora coupled all three in one inning to go for two runs. With Langstaff leading 1-0, Aurora got a life in the fourth as Ace. Yake singled. Mickey Sutton, making his first organized softball start, followed with a resounding triple that tied the score. With two down, catcher Charlie Case singled home Sutton with what proved to be the winning run.

Andy O'Neil was on the hill-top for Aurora and kept seven hits well scattered, except for the third inning. Both teams made two errors. Wilf White played a star game in the field for Aurora, while the work of his charges delighted manager Andy Closs.

Line up: Charlie Case c.; Andy O'Neil, p.; Floyd Yake lb.; Bill Gilkes 2b.; Wilf White s.s.; Ray White 3b.; Gerry Worth 1.f.; Mickey Sutton c.f.; Harry Sutton r.f.
